DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 09 August 2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-4, 7, 9, 13-16, and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McLeod et al (US 2002/0004694 A1). McLeod discloses the claimed invention, a device for testing exhaust emissions comprising a base station [62] having memory and printer (paragraphs 159-174) having docking ports ([60]; paragraph 164) for a portable gas sensor including a gas analyzer [500] ([48], paragraphs 156-158) that receives power from an attached power pack (paragraph 158) and a portable display device (paragraphs 71-81) comprising a keypad (paragraph 72), wherein the sensor and display device are detachable from the base station for independent use (paragraphs 160, 162, 164, 174), wherein the data may be transmitted and received wirelessly through radio signals (paragraph 175). The docking port may orient the display device 48 on base station 62; see paragraphs 196 and 198 ("data processor 62 may or may not conjoin user interface unit 48" (emphasis added)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 10 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McLeod (US 2002/0004694 A1) in view of in view of Vojtisek-Lom (US 6,435,019 B1). McLeod teaches the claimed invention except for the use of an engine speed sensor and an oil temperature probe wirelessly connected to the display device. Vojtisek-Lom teaches an exhaust sensor system having an oil temperature sensor [29] and an engine speed sensor [18], where the sensor results are sent to a computer (column 4 lines 11-31 and 63-65; column 5 line 58 through column 6 line 3). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use engine speed sensor and an oil temperature probe as taught by Vojtisek-

Lom in the invention taught by McLeod to gather additional sense data to be sent wirelessly to the operator display, since this would provide the operator with more useful data about auto operation.

Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McLeod (US 2002/0004694 A1) in view of Doyle (US 2003/0159044 A1). McLeod teaches the claimed invention except for the use of a smart card reader. Doyle teaches the use of a smart card reader [430] for ensuring the security of a station. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a smart card reader as taught by Doyle in the invention taught by McLeod, since this would limit unauthorized access to privileged information.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 6 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims, since the prior art neither discloses nor fairly teaches a docking port including a heater capable of maintaining a sensor at a desired temperature in combination with the other positively recited elements of the claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the rejected claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
